The latest news for fellows from the College of Law Practice Management.

MAY 2012

2012 FUTURES CONFERENCE

We are planning an exciting program for our 2012 Futures Conference. Each year, we examine leading edge law practice management issues, tapping our own Fellows and guests who are making the future happen. Topics planned for our October 26-27 conference hosted by Georgetown Law in Washington, DC, include:

- The New Model of Law Firms
- "Value" From the Eyes of Different Beholders
- Managing Partners of the Future
- The Myriad Challenges of Diversity
- The New Normal from the GC Perspective
- 2012 InnovAction Awards Presentation
- The Consumer Law Revolution (and What It Means for Biglaw).
- Also, for the first time, a Legal Academy Practice Research Report featuring the results of academic studies of cutting-edge issues.

The program will include panel presentations with active audience input and special breakout sessions -- so, expect another lively and engaging event. This conference will help you understand the forces at work in the legal market today and what they mean for this tumultuous time for law practice and legal business management, whether you are a lawyer, law firm manager, consultant, or vendor. Mark your calendars and look for registration information soon.
